

Abstract

A method for achieving high flow in valves with small actuation distance is 5 described. A detailed description for a silicon microvalve is provided. An algorithm is described for designing optimized valves.